

I would like to develop a web page that is dedicated to the crafts and projects that my wife and I do. The Home page will have a picture carousel that will scroll through work that we have done. The top of the homepage will have a horizontal navigation bar that will allow the user to navigate to places within the website pertaining to; myself, my wife, links to youtube/twitter, and our bio. The horizontal navigation bar will also have a drop-down menu that will appear whenever the user scrolls over the name of myself (Jake) or my wife (Brenna). From the drop down menu they will be able to navigate to projects pages, galleries, and my CV. The projects pages will contain pictures and descriptions of current and past projects. The gallery page will have a scroll box on the left side of the screen that will allow the user to scroll through pictures of our work. When the user clicks on one of the images a larger image of the work will appear on the right side of the screen. My CV page will contain my current Resume/CV and will offer the user the option to download it at the bottom. The CV page will also contain an unordered list with entries from my CV. Finally the bio will be a introduction to my wife and I, a bit about how we met and what kind of work we each like to make and why.

My wife and I would like to have a store someday and I would like this website to be the seed for a future online store that could eventually have a comments section, shopping cart and payment section, and maybe a forum.
